Profile- As a point of student development and student ownership of the knowledge they gain in work with me, I tend to delegate my groups and/or individuals per assignment. I prefer this method as it helps stir greater challenge for impressive making design and creative ingenuity. As a teacher, my role tends to become more in the consultant realm than as the authoritative ruler, which suppresses student comprehension, desire for learning, and progress. I'm pursuing positions outside of my current residence due to low opportunities here.
