WORK EXPERIENCE, INTERNSHIPS & VOLUNTARY WORK

- Association for the Study of Ethnicity and Nationalism (ASEN), London School of Economics (Oct 2011–Mar 2012)

ASEN is a student led think tank that seeks to promote debate and discussion on contemporary issues surrounding conflict, ethnic identity, the rise of nationalism and the nature of the state system.

My role as a member of the exhibition committee was to help design the March 2012 ASEN exhibition, create posters to appeal to the student populace at LSE and select a theme. The theme selected was political borders with particular emphasis on the disputed region of South Ossetia and the 2008 conflict between Russia and Georgia.

- Hackney Community College (Sept 2011 – Jan 2012)

I volunteered as an English homework tutor at Hackney Community College. My role was to help students who were refugees and asylum seekers learn English. The aim was to facilitate integration into British society and improve confidence. Classes were held every Friday and lasted three hours.

EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

● GiPA (Oct 2010 – Present)

I currently work some evenings as a market research telephone interviewer. My duties include making outbound calls to members of the public who have a particular type of automobile and conducting feedback on the performance and maintenance of the vehicle. The feedback is recorded on a pre-printed form.

● Integrated Security Consultants (Jan 2010 - Present)

I have worked for ISC as a steward at Wembley Stadium. My duties include showing spectators facilities, maintaining safety, keeping exit ways clear and informing spectators of stadium regulation. I have taken the Certificate in Event and Match day Stewarding (CEMS) inclusive of its first aid component as part of employment with this company.

● Boots (Dec 2011 – Jan 2012)

I worked as a Christmas temp for Boots last year at Greenford Westway Retail Park. My duties included serving customers at the cash register, providing customers with information and replenishing the shop floor.

● Currys Digital (Dec 2008 – Jan 2009)

I worked as a merchandiser during the Christmas period at Curry's digital. My duties included transferring goods from the warehouse to the shop floor, ensuring the shop floor was replenished, that high value goods were tagged and that prices were updated. At times I made sales, advised customers on particular products and serviced customers on the till.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

● IT skills:

- Microsoft word, excel, powerpoint , e-mail and internet. I have experience with both PC and Macs computers.

● Non-academic qualifications:

- Certificate in Event and Match day Stewarding (CEMS) – Taken and passed in 2007 at Wembley Stadium. The course focused on crowd safety, legislation surrounding event days and stewarding responsibilities.

- Certificate in teaching English to speakers of other languages (CELTA) – This four week intensive course was taken between June and July 2012 at International House London. It was 120 hours total and included six hours of teaching English to speakers of a foreign language. I intend to use this qualification to teach English abroad.

● Languages

- I am a native English speaker being born and bred in the United Kingdom.
- I am conversant in Urdu and fully understand Gujarati, Kutchi & Memoni.
